Notes From Granville

How's everybody doing so far this winter? Not so bad thus far with snow, knocking loudly on all available wood, of course, and the temperatures haven't been that bad either. I'm loving it! I'm also aware that February hasn't made its appearance just yet, and for the year's shortest month, it can also be the year's ugliest and most certainly the coldest. I just brought 50 more bales of hay to the lower barn so I'm set for a little while, and the generator seems to be running as well. Let's just hope we don't need it.

Saw an e-mail showing 56 feet of snow, and the crews were working at clearing a roadway. Now that's just downright ugly. I guess we should wish for a little wind since our fearless leader, Kory, has erected a wind generator so as to deprive the electric company of their fair share of his money. Fearless because people who climb on towers are either fearless or nuts, and I hesitate calling Kory nuts. It ought to be done by now and humming away producing inexpensive juice for the Rickett family.

The brave shooters for January's match numbered seven, and we were happy to see them. Longfingers and Granville shot it clean twice. Kid Koo and Rance had one miss each, and Kory had two. Broomtail and Lacey had a couple more than that. We did have fun though. I guess we're going to have to figure out a way to have a shoot off for those who shoot it clean,... like cutting some time off the clock. Got to something so that Longfingers can whip ole Granville proper!

Got to thinking something else too. Since the numbers of shooters are usually small, if somebody wants to bring along another type of handgun that shoots lead bullet ammo, like for instance a .22 auto pistol or a .38 double action revolver, and we are done with the match or are on a pause, there would be no reason why a person couldn't bang off a few shots with it. Mild loads preferred, of course.

We also ambled down the road after shooting to The Castaways for some good eating and fellowship. I have to tell any of you who still wonder, the air is altogether much better than it used to be on the indoor range, and the lighting is excellent now, and the furnace works too. I hope more people will come and join the fun.

Next shooting date is Feb 12th, 9:00am. Remember it is cowboy handguns and .22 lever or pump rifles, and please, no black powder.

Take care, be well, and remember,... winter can't last forever. Just keep reloading!

FUN WITH THE GIRLS WITH GUNS

We are working on a possible trip to the "Cowboy Action Mid-West Expo" in Shipshewana, Indiana. It will be Saturday, March 10 (9-5) and Sunday, March 11 (9-3). We have further information coming soon about the vendors. They are advertising "everything a cowboy or cowgirl could want" (hats, boots, clothes, guns, ammo).

Any cowgirls and cowboys that would like to get together for this event, contact Partner's Partner. More info coming soon.

Also, if you are interested in a jewelry making class; let PP know. We have a business that has offered their expertise, classroom, tools and naturally their merchandise. We will plan the date around those showing interest.

If you have questions or a trip idea, contact Partner's Partner at The2Partners@vzw.blackberry.net or 309-229-6547.
